

Dr. Qian Chen is currently an Associate Professor in Construction Systems Management. Dr. Chen received her B.E. degree in Architecture from Southwest Jiaotong University in China in 1996 and a M.E. degree in Civil Engineering from National University of Singapore in 2003. She earned her second Master's degree in Architecture in 2004 and the Ph.D. degree in Building Construction in 2007, both from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. She had six years of construction industry work experience overseas. Dr. Chen's research focuses on high performance green buildings, construction safety, interface management, lean construction, etc. She has taught university courses in construction methods and materials, project management, and green building and sustainable construction. She is a LEED Accredited Professional and an Editor of the Journal of Green Building. In recent years, she has been conducting education and outreach programs in green building, energy retrofits, and sustainable neighborhood development areas.